ROBERT W. SHINGLE

Who announced this morning that he is not a candidate before the convention.

"Under no circumstances will I be a candidate for the nomination for mayor before the Republican convention tomorrow." This announcement, made by Robert W. Shingle this morning, puts an end to a deal of political labor expended within the past few days to induce that energetic young business man to become a candidate, and under previous conditions would leave the field free for a battle between Eben Low and John C. Lane, the untitled, albeit obstinate, candidate for the nomination. Ella Long, too, has reentered the field.
But there is another Richmond who entered the field this morning, and he is no less a person than Sam Parker. Although an added starter, Parker's nomination is not a possibility.

VICTIM OF KOOLAU BURIED WITH MILITARY HONORS

Soldier's Body Recovered from Mountain Wilds by Intrepid Search Party

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]
SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Sept. 18.—The funeral services of the late Corporal Edward Hickey of Company A, Second Infantry, were held at the post chapel at 11 o'clock on the morning of the 17th inst. Chaplain J. F. Houlahan, Fifth Cavalry, conducting the services. Colonels French and McGunagle, with the majority of the officers of the dead soldier's regiment, attended, and every enlisted man of the Second not on duty also attended and followed the flag-covered coffin to the railway station, thus paying honor to their comrade who had given his life in his endeavor to carry out his orders among Koolau's gorges.

Lieut. Rose, who had been sent out with a detachment to recover Corporal Hickey's remains, returned on Monday evening from the successful performance of that duty. On his arrival at Haleiwa Hotel, where Private Steele awaited his coming, Lieut.

Rose found that Steele had been given every care by Mr. Kimball of the hotel when the soldier had reached there Sunday evening in a famished and exhausted condition. Notwithstanding Mr. Kimball's kindly efforts, Steele was in no condition to accompany the detachment, and Rose therefore led his party into the mountains, relying on his knowledge of the country gained on his expedition to attempt the finding of the party of teachers that were lost in the mountains some weeks ago.

Steele was able to recall some landmarks near the scene of the accident and with that meager knowledge Lieut. Rose's trip was a credit to his sense of country.

From the nearest practicable road it was over seven miles to where Hickey's body was found by the bank of the deep pool into which he had fallen and from which the courageous Steele had dragged him.

Lieut. Rose's little party were over four hours making their way out of the deep gorge and back to the waiting ambulance.
In addition to recovering Corporal Hickey's body, Rose also, by rare good fortune, encountered the missing men who had been reported lost from a company and led them out to safety. The two men had been in search of Hickey and Steele and not, as at first reported members of the original group to which these latter belonged. Lieut. Rose and his party have been warmly thanked for their energy and good mountaineering.

KUHIO NAMED IN CONVENTION FOR DELEGATE

Pledges His Support to the Platform in Its Entirety

SHINGLE, CHAIRMAN OF CENTRAL COMMITTEE

Assembly Dissolves Peacefully After Harmonious Session

With mild cheering, resounding music and some yawning from tired delegates anxious to go home, Kuhio was nominated as Delegate to Congress to succeed himself, shortly after the Republican Territorial convention convened in session last night. There were, of course, no wild scenes of enthusiasm such as might have marked a contest, but everybody seemed happy save two delegates from Maui, who engaged in a flat fight on the steps of the Opera House after each had accused the other of double dealing. Peace was restored by members of the Kuhio committee, and the interested spectators of the battle struggled back into the convention hall to hear Kuhio express his surprise and gratification at the sudden and unexpected honor which had been so harmoniously thrust upon him.

Kuhio was nominated by Stephen Deesha in a lengthy speech in Hawaiian, and the nomination was seconded by R. W. Breckons, who said that evils had crept into the Republican party and it was now proposed to remedy them. He said the party is on record as being always able to put forward a champion of principles equal to the occasion, and he declared it had not departed from its history in renouncing Kuhio.

Cecil Brown moved that the nominations close, and D. L. Withington and J. A. Maguire escorted the Prince

FISHER PARTY HAS FINE TRIP; SPENDING BUSY DAY ON KAUAI

(By Star-Bulletin's Staff Correspondent)

ELEELE, Kauai, Sept. 18.—(Special to the Star-Bulletin)—The Fisher party arrived at Waimea by the Mauna Loa at seven o'clock this morning after a fine trip with a smooth sea. They took three autos for their trip around the island, stopping at Port Allen for breakfast with Walter McBride as host. Mr. Fisher had an informal discussion with McBride and H. H. Brodie on the homesteading condition. The party left at ten o'clock for Kalaheo, where the homestead inspection will be held, and there will be a public hearing at Lihue shortly before noon.

In a statement made by McBride, he is in favor of the system of homesteading on corporation plantations, but he doubted the advisability of cutting up the cane land.

HILO MERCHANTS WOULD BANQUET FISHER

An invitation from the Board of Trade of Hilo asking Secretary of the Interior Fisher and his party to take dinner at the Board of Trade's guests in that city next Monday evening was received here this morning. Though no reply will be made until Fisher's return tomorrow morning the invitation likely will be accepted, as it will necessitate no alteration of the itinerary for the island of Hawaii and the Secretary desires to meet all the business men of the Territory that his time will permit.

The Maui Chamber of Commerce also has sent an invitation to the Secretary and his party to be the guests of the citizens of that island, and asking for information concerning the itinerary in that county. The information will be forwarded today by Territorial Secretary E. A. Mott-Smith, who has remained behind to handle such matters in the absence of the Governor and the Secretary of the Interior.

It is not known yet whether another session of the inquiry will be held in Honolulu Friday, as the party is to leave at noon of that day. If a session is held it can be but a short one, at least.

Gen. Murray To Come For Local Maneuvers?

High Officers Ordered Here To View Execution of the Defense Plan

That the war game to be played by the army of Oahu next month is of more than ordinary importance, and that the maneuver campaign is expected to do its part toward solving the big problem of the island's defense, is made apparent by the news that the commanding general of the Western Division, Major-General Arthur Murray, will probably make a special trip to Hawaii to witness the mimic warfare. Work reached here yesterday afternoon that nine army officers from the mainland, including two of General Murray's personal staff, would require accommodations on the November transport to the coast, and officers of this department take this to mean that the division commander, accompanied by his other aide, Captain Pratt, will probably travel by a liner.

But whether General Murray is here in person, or not, the detailing of nine officers to attend the maneuvers is in itself significant. There will be no lack of umpires, with these outside observers on the ground, and with the cable to the depot quartermaster announcing their prospective arrival, the maneuver campaign immediately took on added importance.

Inspectors Coming.

Two inspectors general are to be among the visitors. They are Major Alonzo Gray, and Major McManus, and their coming has caused a buzz of comment and speculation. Other officers who will act as observers and umpires are Major Flemming, Adjutant General of the Department of the Columbia; Captain M. N. Smith, and H. J. Brees, aides to General Murray; Captain W. R. McCaskey, 12th Infantry; Lieutenant Julian Dodge, 6th Infantry; Lieutenant F. T. Burt, and James L. Thorne.

The general scheme of the maneuver campaign has been worked out by a board of officers appointed by General Macomb some months ago, but the plan is, of course, secret and nothing as to the general or special situations is to be made public. This is because it is aimed to make the maneuvers as similar to real war as possible, and the commanders of each force will be expected to find out for themselves the position and disposition of the enemy, through their scouts. Of course, the strength of the opposing force will be an easy problem in mental arithmetic for the commanders, as they will merely have to deduct the number of their own organizations from the total troops in the island to find the answer.

In fact, the make-up of the two armies will be known to everyone as soon as the troops march away from Schofield Barracks.

While the general plan of campaign is secret, and will not be known until the problem actually develops in the field, department officials have made a few definite announcements. The maneuvers will commence October 21, and will last until the 26th, when the "war" will come to an end. General Macomb is to be maneuver commander.

POLICE SEEK PARENTS OF DIMINUTIVE JAPANESE LAD

There is a wee mite of a Japanese lad awaiting the appearance of his parents at central police station, who may have figured in an unsuccessful attempt at kidnapping.

Under detention, pending a further investigation of the case, is a middle-aged Filipino woman who gave her name as Maxima Garcia, who was placed under arrest by Police Officer Sanders, the woman being found leading the child along Emma street, and conducting herself in a manner that led to inquiries being made as to her mental condition.

The Japanese youngster, is apparently well content with his surroundings at the station. He is in charge of a kindly disposed matron and his every want is supplied.

Dr. Emmerson was called to make an examination of the mental condition of the woman now held under detention. The Filipino talked in rambling manner, and had much to say concerning an aching tooth. Her bodily ills received treatment, meanwhile the police department is making every effort to learn something concerning the youthful Japanese.

In the course of the morning several Japanese called at the station with a view of identifying the little fellow. So far the callers have been unable to give any light upon a matter that is nearing the border line of mystery.

MAJ. GEN. ARTHUR MURRAY
Who will probably attend Oahu maneuvers.

er and chief umpire; the command of the opposing Red and Blue armies will probably be held by the two senior colonels of the department; the troops on the islands will be divided between the two armies as evenly as possible. In this last particular, as there is only one battalion of Field Artillery and one regiment of Cavalry, there is bound to be an unequal division of these organizations. Probably two squadrons of cavalry will be with one force, and one with the other, and to make up for this predominance, the army with the least cavalry will have the most artillery, probably three batteries, to one with the larger cavalry detachment. There are two infantry regiments available, and one will be with each army. The sanitary troops will be evenly divided. As there are no regular signal troops on the island, the signal detachment of the Fifth Cavalry, which has had considerable special training, will probably be split up between the Reds and the Blues to handle the field communication. Field wireless, and night signaling with one battalion of Field Artillery and one acetylene flashes, will probably be paid.

A few weeks ago a board of army officers was detailed to the War Department to study the problems of defense here and to evolve a plan "to make Oahu impregnable." This board, which was familiarly known in service circles as the "brain trust," worked five weeks on the theoretical side of the island's defense. The mapworkers will be a valuable addition to this work, as they will solve with marching men some of the problems which the board worked out with map and scale. Altogether, the coming campaign looks bigger every day.

The woman is said to live at Queen Emma Hall. Prior to taking up a residence there, she is said to have made her home in Kaakako. From what could be gathered by the officers in their round of investigation, the woman visited the scene of a former residence this morning, and while in Kaakako district, was seen to lead the little Japanese boy away. No charge has as yet been preferred against the woman.

TWO SUGAR STOCKS DROP A QUARTER

Oahu was the only sugar stock on the board today, and that for but two blocks and 50 shares at 27.50, a decline of a quarter point. The same price was had for Oahu between boards to the extent of 35, 20, 100 and 5 shares. Hawaiian Commercial is the only other sugar stock reported on the day's list, 20 shares selling down a quarter point to 43.25.

Oahu Railway scored an advance of 1.50 in sales of 20 and 25 shares at 142.50. Everything else on the list is in bonds, namely: Hawaiian Irrigation bonds, $4000 at 101; Hilo Extension bonds, $4000 and $1000 at 95.75; Oahu bonds, $5000 and $3000 at 97.50.

Rebels suffered heavy defeat in Nicaragua, and continued government successes have cleared the situation.

COURT-MARTIAL OF HAYNES ENDS

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]
SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Sept. 18.—The closing scene of the trial of Veterinarian J. R. Haynes took place yesterday afternoon, the court prolonging its session until after retreat roll-call had been completed.

The evidence and arguments by Captain Hopkins and Lieutenant Wells, counsel and judge advocate respectively, were all closed up and in the hands of the court-martial by 4:30, and the deliberations of the body consumed nearly two hours.

The principal witness of the afternoon was Colonel Wilder, commanding the Fifth Cavalry. The colonel testified as to his efforts to reduce the friction that had occurred between Drs. Vans Agnew and Haynes, and stated that he had caused Dr. Haynes to be warned as to any statements that the latter might make in a letter to be written in reply to one from Vans Agnew. It appeared that Haynes failed to heed his colonel's advice, since the reply brought the doctor before a court-martial for his indiscretions in language.

Dr. Willoughby, the only other witness of the afternoon, was called by the defense and testified that Haynes did not say to his superior, Vans Agnew, "I don't tell you," but "I'll tell you in the morning," when questioned as to what medicine or treatment had been given a horse.

The accused was sworn as a witness in his own behalf, as is permissible under army legal procedure, but testified only briefly. Captain Hopkins, in his address to the court, confined himself to a dispassionate statement to the effect that Dr. Haynes intended no wrong in any of his acts, and the captain expressed the hope that the tribunal would take into consideration the brief service of his client as an officer.

Lieutenant Wells, in his summing up, briefly restated the main points of the evidence and rested his case without oratory.

Inasmuch as the findings of the court are official secrets, nothing further will be known until General Murray, the division commander, has reviewed the proceedings.

The continuation of the Vans Agnew trial, it was announced, would begin on Monday next.

JAW BROKEN THROUGH FALL

A Japanese was taken to Queen's hospital this morning suffering from a fractured jaw and a bruised face and body, through a fall from a bicycle.

The man was riding at moderate pace along Luso street, when it is claimed that the frame of the machine broke, letting the rider fall to the street.

The Japanese failed to arise, and residents became alarmed, and went to his assistance. The cyclist was found unconscious, and a hurry call was sent to police station.

By the time the officers arrived upon the scene the rider had partially recovered. He was ordered to the hospital for treatment.

SUNDAY SERVICE AT METHODIST CHURCH

The Sunday evening service at the Methodist Church was of especial interest. A large company of soldiers were present and joined heartily in the singing of the hymns. Rev. R. E. Smith, the pastor, preached from Psalm 118:5, "It is better to trust in the Lord than to put confidence in man."

The sermon was intensely practical throughout and was a manly plea for the life of trust in God. The music was greatly enjoyed by all. The choir rendered an anthem, "Now the Day is Over" and Mr. Arthur Hudson sang "O Galilee."

Chas. W. Morse, the "dying" financier, released by Taft from the penitentiary, has been in Wall Street two months and already owns two steamship lines—one from New York to San Francisco.
